

Council Vets To Buy Pierce Park For City

Vote Is 7 to 4 After Aldermen and Citizens Express Their Views.

PURCHASE PRICE IS $28,900

Advocates of Purchase Declare
It Is Ideal Rest Spot for Workingman.

By a vote of 7 to 4 the common council, at its meeting Wednesday evening, decided to purchase Pierce park. Those voting in favor of it were Aldermen Hanson, Wood, McCann, Laabs, Smith, Pose and Beske, and those opposed to it were Aldermen Murphy, McGillan, Mayer and Fiedler. Alderman Lappen of the Second ward was out of the city. The council room was comfortably filled with representative business men, principally members of the Rotary club and chamber of commerce who took part in the discussion and when the result of the vote was announced they rent the air with cheers.

The resolution that decided the question was introduced by Alderman Laabs and read:

"Resolved, That the sum of $15,400 be and hereby is appropriated from the general fund for the partial payment of the purchase price of all of block 19 west of the east line of Pierce-ave., extended south to Fox river; all of block 83 except lot 1; and all of block 84 west of the east line of Pierce-ave., extended south to the Fox river, Third ward plat, city of Appleton, and that the mayor and clerk be instructed to draw an order for $15,400 for partial payment of the above described land upon presentation of the deed and abstract free and clear of any incumbrance except a mortgage of $13,500 bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest and all general and special taxes for the year 1921 which the city assumes."

Committee Reports

The report of the special committee consisting of Aldermen Smith, Wood and Laabs was:

"The undersigned appointed as committee at the last regular meeting of the common council to investigate the possibility of purchasing Pierce park, and the terms under which same could be purchased respectfully submit the following report:

"That the committee promptly called upon the owner of Pierce park and the owners are willing at this time to sell the property for $28,900 and also give a warranty deed for the west 19 1/2 feet of the east 1/2 of lot 4, block 7, Appleton plat, Second ward.

"This lot fronts on College-ave. and can be used for the purpose of a service station or entrance into Jones park and which was assessed in 1920 at $1,425, and the committee recommends that this real estate be bought for park or city purposes for the said consideration, to wit, $28,900.

"That the property will be bought subject to a first estate mortgage on which there is an unpaid balance of $13,500. This mortgage is dated July 1, 1920, and runs for a term of five years and bears interest at the rate of 5 1/2 per cent annum.

"Under the deed drawn the city assumes payment of this unpaid balance on the mortgage as part of the consideration of $28,900."

TRYING TO RESCUE YANKS FROM RUSSIA

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The lives of more than a score of American citizens imprisoned or otherwise detained in soviet Russia now hinge on the efforts being made by Secretary Hughes to obtain their release. It was believed here Thursday, Hughes now is understood to be working on a number of plans to get these American men and women out of the hands of the bolshevik authorities alive.

To leave the Americans in Russia to their fate would be a blow against the honor of the United States government, according to opinion here, but at the same time Hughes is said to fear that any miscarriage of the state department's plans might result in the deaths of some.

OFFER BRIBE TO YANK
TO OPPOSE OBREGON

By United Press Leased Wire.
Mexico City—Alleged letters offering a huge bribe to American army officers to obtain support from the United States for the candidacy of Robert Dominguez were made public by President Obregon Thursday.

The letter from Dominguez to Colonel Robert M. Campbell, former military attaché here, offered Campbell $250,000 to obtain support for the former's candidacy to succeed General Carranza.

Dominguez said to be in Washington now, opposing the Obregon administration, was Obregon's opponent at the election.

SHIPPING BOARD IS DUE FOR PANNING

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The shipping board is due for a fore and aft raking in the senate this week during discussion of the $154,000,000 deficiency bill now under consideration.

President Harding, too, may be subject to criticism. At least he will be urged by senators, in the debate, to end quickly the delay in appointing the shipping board.

Senator Kenyon, Republican, and Senator King, Utah, Democrat, are prepared to take the lead in assailing the shipping board. They will fight the appropriation of more than $100,000,000 which the bill carries for the board.

This huge appropriation, together with the way the board's affairs are conducted, the salaries paid some of its employees, the character of these employees, and the manner in which they got their appointments will come under fire.

SENATE TO PROBE
CLOTHING BUSINESS

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Investigation of the men's clothing business was virtually decided on Thursday by the senate education and labor committee in spite of efforts by both employers and workers in New York to have the committee delay action on the Borah resolution for an inquiry.

Although the committee took no formal action Thursday on the Borah resolution, it was stated afterwards a report awaited only advice regarding the settlement of the New York strike.

The Amalgamated Union of Garment Workers was assailed before the committee Thursday as "red organization" by William Bandler, president of the New York Clothing Trade association, and Archibald E. Stevenson, counsel for that organization. Stevenson was formerly special counsel for the Lusk legislative investigating committee in New York.

RAILWORKERS DECLARE WAGE CUT IS UNJUST

Employees Say Living Costs
Have Not Fallen Enough to Warrant Reduction.

STRIKE OUT OF QUESTION

Workers Realize Public Would Not Support Them If They Left Jobs.

Chicago—Rail workers feel that the 12 per cent wage cut ordered by the United States railroad labor board is unjust at this time, but will accept it reluctantly.

Many of the rank and file who were talked with at Chicago's big terminals expressed the opinion that they have not yet noticed a 12 per cent cut in their grocery bills.

They said the cut in necessities was hardly noticeable.

Workers on the railroads are up against these problems they say, and realize they must not have public approval. The general public is having a hard enough time making ends meet during the industrial depression that it would refuse to back any movement that would make the hard times worse.

In event of a strike, railroads know that thousands of jobless men would take their place.

There has always been a certain jealousy of rail workers by men of other trades. Outsiders always dubbed the railroad as "the aristocrats of labor." This adverse sentiment would mean that other crafts would not support a rail strike.

Leaders of the powerful rail unions refuse to comment on the cut or predict what will happen.

A policy of labor leaders will be thrust out at a meeting here next month.

In the meanwhile, the head of each rail union department will call a council meeting at which it will be decided whether to accept or reject the cut. A council vote of rejection, in most unions, would throw the matter up to the men in a plebiscite.

Leaders said they have formulated no policy. They will put it squarely up to the rank and file, they said.

Union officials who will not allow their names to be used, said that "the railroad board made a poor guess."

There is some feeling among them that the board made its decision without wading through the mass of statements and exhibits that were presented.

READY TO HEAR
STORY OF MURDER

Complete Selection of Jury to Try Mysterious Indiana
Case.

Warsaw, Ind.—First evidence in the trial of Virgil Decker, charged with murdering his chum, Leroy Lovett, will be introduced this afternoon, according to indications early Thursday.

When the work of selecting a jury was resumed, eleven men were in the jury box passed by both the state and the defense. Thirty-one jurymen were examined Wednesday, an equal number of a special venire remained for call Thursday.

Attorneys for the state are insisting that all jurors be willing to inflict the death penalty and at least half a dozen were excused because they were opposed to capital punishment.

GREEN BAY SUE FOR $300,000 BY PAPER MILL FIRM

Mill Officials Charge City Officials Failed to Provide Protection.

Green Bay—Suit for $300,000 damages against the city of Green Bay is to be instituted by paper mills as a result of the outbreak between strikers and strikebreakers here the first of the week, which caused the plants to shut down. Announcement of the action to be brought at once was made by attorneys for the Northern Paper Mills Thursday.

Such a suit is unparalleled in the history of Wisconsin courts.

The action is to be brought on the grounds of loss incurred by the company by failure of the city to afford adequate protection to its plant and property. Following refusal of the request for state troops to quell disturbances at the mills, Governor John J. Blaine ordered Green Bay city and Brown county officials to do their duty. The paper interests will hold, it was said, these officials failed to do this making it necessary to discharge strikebreakers and shut down the mill.

PUT CLAMP ON TONGUES IN BADGER LEGISLATURE

Madison—Too much talking is delaying legislative adjournment, the assembly discovered Thursday.

John Schaffer, Milwaukee assemblyman, received notice from his colleagues he would have to curb his talking or all debate on all bills would be shut off.

Schaffer was the only one mentioned but the notice was also directed at other members who could not restrain from making a few remarks on each bill.

Assemblyman L. J. Pierson, Milwaukee, proposed to demand the "previous question" to help Poland shut off the language flow.

Harding's Visit To Rail Board Carefully Planned

President Wanted Country to Know He Is Interested in Rate Reduction.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—President Harding has taken his first important step toward solving the railway problem. He has in effect asked the interstate commerce commission to reduce freight rates. He didn't do so directly—he managed the thing very tactfully and diplomatically. For a president isn't supposed to ask the interstate commerce commission which is a quasi-judicial body to render any decisions.

Woodrow Wilson had some informal conferences once with members of the interstate commerce commission and was severely criticized for trying to influence the commission to revise rates.

President Harding adopted a much more direct and even bolder course which unquestionably will establish a precedent and brush aside for all times the technical criticism that a president can't communicate with the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Harding walked to the interstate commerce commission building and told the members of the commission that he recognized that the commission is the rate-making agent of Congress and that inasmuch as he had the official right to communicate to Congress any message he pleased, he therefore felt free to communicate directly with the agent of Congress.

Mr. Harding left the commission with a parting word that carried a great deal of significance. He spoke of his desire to be helpful and to remain in closer touch with the work the commission is doing.

Now the visit of Mr. Harding was no casual affair, accidentally brought about. It was deliberately thought out as a means of convincing the country that President Harding recognized the necessity of lower freight rates and that he hoped the carriers would see the desirability of meeting public opinion and accepting economies in other directions. The whole subject was discussed at the cabinet meeting on Tuesday after which it was announced that the president would do something about rates the very next day. The visit to the commission was planned by Mr. Harding not only after consultation with the cabinet but after it became known here also that the railroad labor board would hand down a decision cutting the price of certain classes of labor and eliminating an estimated cost of $400,000,000 a year in wages. It was in the judgment of Mr. Harding the psychological time to act.

Order Investigation Of Tulsa Race Rioting

Oklahoma Governor Orders
Grand Jury to Probe
Cause of Fighting.

$1,500,000 PROPERTY LOSS

Quiet Is Restored in Oil City
After Riots Which Cause
100 Deaths.

By United Press Leased Wire
Tulsa, Okla.—Governor J. B. A. Robertson Thursday ordered a grand jury investigation of the race riots here.

Attorney General Prince Freeling will have charge of the investigation to fix the responsibility for the loss of nearly 700 lives and the destruction of property of $,000 blacks and 5,000 whites.

Preparations were made by Colonel Markham for the removal of guardsmen in Tulsa. These men worked hard to have what was left of the once proud oil city when they arrived during the hottest stage of the riots. Racial feeling had completely died down Thursday.

Negroes crept from hiding and resumed their work as porters, bell hops, waiters and janitors. They went about their duties unmolested.

"My troops did not fire a shot in the riot," Colonel Markham said. Colonel Barrett was to depart late Thursday with some of his troops. The remainder will be left in Tulsa under Colonel Ewell Head.

Strict rules of the military were expected to be modified Thursday although the city will remain under martial law for several days yet.

Insurance Void

Insurance men here Thursday said that premiums could not be collected on lives of those lost in the riots or on property destroyed.

It was stated that a special "riot" clause has to be attached to policies before collections can be made.

Very few policies had this clause, it was said.

Negroes who fled the city when the rioting began Tuesday night, drifted back into town Thursday with pitiful stories of how they stayed hidden in the woods northeast of the city with out food or water for nearly two days.

Negroes rounded up many fleeing whites and brought them to the detention camps.

Practically the entire Negro population spent the night under guard. Men, women and children were herded together in public buildings. Four thousand blacks spent the night at the fairgrounds.

Guards Patrol Streets

Throughout the night the motor trucks, on which dangerous looking guns were mounted, patrolled the empty streets. The streets were ordered closed to civilians at 9 p. m.

A campaign to raise money for relief of the derelict Negroes was under way Thursday. Several thousand dollars had already been subscribed.

Dick Rowland, the Negro whose alleged attempted rape of Sarah Paige led to rumors of an attempted lynching, was smuggled from the city soon after the fighting started. The Negro made a drive on the jail to release Rowland when the reports of whites gathered to lynch him, spread through the black belt.

Sarah could not be found. Neighbors, however, who said they saw her shortly after the rape was attempted said they saw the bruises on her arms and other parts of her body.

The fire which destroyed the "black belt" played no favorites and also swept the homes of white in its path. In addition to the 3,000 Negroes made homeless by the blaze, approximately 5,000 whites lost everything they owned.

Preparations were made to complete the release of the thousands of Negroes from the cramped quarters in the Western League race track and the lawless mining outside the city.

There was no rush about the process, officers taking time to question every person to learn if he had been connected in any way with starting the riots. There was a fear also that the sudden looting of large numbers of Negroes would start further trouble.

Smoke still curled from some of the buildings. Preparations for the burial of the victims were not completed Thursday. Not all of the bodies had been identified.

In the case of Negro victims, many of their relatives were under guard, unable to help in identification.

Witnesses of the riots told exciting stories Thursday of the murderous rage which seemed to fill the mobs. White and black snipers crouching behind the flimsiest protection fired at any person of opposite color who came within range.

Women were victims of the shooting as often as were the men.

As the guardsmen took their positions on street corners and patrols were organized in the riot district a sudden quiet fell.

The militiamen were given the widest powers in handling the situation and sight of cold steel was convincing. The men were joined quickly by civilian volunteers. Few looked for a recurrence of violence. The attention of city and state officials was centered on the restoration of property.

HARDING SPEAKS TO NAVAL GRADUATES

No War Unless It Is for Justice Sake, President Tells Midshipmen.

By United Press Leased Wire
Annapolis, Md.—"I hope you will never be called upon to draw a sword or fire a gun," President Harding told the graduating class at the naval academy Thursday.

"I promise you that while I am president you'll never be called on to fire a gun except when you can do it with that American conscience of which you can answer to God and our fellowmen," Harding said.

The president spoke extemporaneously after he had presented diplomas to the 260 graduate midshipmen before several thousand relatives and sweethearts.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, himself a former marine private, called on the graduates to "be officers but not snobs" and adjured them to "go forth today to make your places in the navy of your fathers, men among men, and you will never cease to remember your duty to your country and to yourselves."

When they are in accord, these gentlemen are known as legislative agents to you," said Matheson.

"When they are opposed to your views they at once become 'pernicious lobbyists,'" continued the speaker.

"He talks of bludgeoned members. Does he realize what imputation he has made against the majority in this legislature. Is it true that any man here is so weak as to submit to dictation. I deny it, gentlemen, gentlemen. I deny it for myself. I deny for more than fifty members of this house and I deny it for nineteen members of the senate."

Matheson, speaking of the proposed bill to be introduced at the governor's suggestion, said he would support any measure of real value and providing real enforcement of the dry laws.

"I will not submit to any bill that does not provide a real advance over the present law," the speaker said.

Mark Catlin, Appleton, leader of the assembly majority, said he had spent all the time he intended to on dry legislation and would not support another dry bill if one was offered.

Other encounters were reported here indicating the plight of the insurgents and their growing impatience with the French.

Meanwhile the Germans have continued to harass the French. From the first they have charged the French were trying to help Poland obtain the major portion of Silesia. At Benthien this ill feeling flared into active fighting.

MRS. NOTT ADMITS SLAYING HUSBAND

Bridgeport, Conn.—New England's most lurid murder drama ended dramatically here Thursday when the trial of Mrs. Ethel H. Nott was halted unexpectedly to permit her to plead guilty to murder of her husband, George E. Nott.

Shortly after her plea was accepted and she was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Maltbie, one of her accomplices, John Edward Johnston, also pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter. He was promptly sentenced to a year's imprisonment.

ROBBERY IN BELLOIT

Belloit—Robbers Wednesday night entered the George Chelais soft drink parlors and after securing $1200 in currency made their escape. About $500 and two gold watches in the safe and cash register were overlooked by the yeggs.

Boy Bets Marbles Jury Will Free Him Of Charge

Jury knows it. I do wish they'd hurry up and let me go home though."

Even the prosecuting attorneys Thursday believed that an acquittal would come within a few minutes after the jury went out.

Cecil guarded the little map he scribbled on crumpled paper showing his defense. The map shows where Cecil was when the Slavin boy was killed.

Cecil's lawyer, W. G. Reed, wanted to borrow the map in the closing argument but Cecil wouldn't part with it. Instead, he stood up and showed it to the jury himself.

The boy didn't want that map to get out of his hands. He sat up many nights drawing it, and in his boyish way believes it will be the thing that will acquit him.

The boy defendant does not hold a grudge against his playmates who testified against him but nodded to them when he looked back of the rail.

DRYS LOSE FIGHT TO OVERRIDE VETO ON MATHESON BILL

Author of Liquor Enforcement
Measure in Hot Attack on Gov. Blaine.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Governor John J. Blaine's veto of the Matheson prohibition enforcement bill was sustained by a vote of 56 to 34 in the assembly Thursday.

The substitute bill being prepared by the governor, was not ready for introduction and may not appear before the legislature until next week.

Assemblyman A. B. Matheson, Janesville, author of the vetoed bill, declared the governor had made a clear cut issue in vetoing the measure.

"The state is divided into two camps," said Matheson.

"One is for strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. The other is for liberal or loose enforcement."

The Janesville member scored the governor for the attack on the Anti-Saloon league lobbyists.

"When they are in accord, these gentlemen are known as legislative agents to you," said Matheson.

"When they are opposed to your views they at once become 'pernicious lobbyists,'" continued the speaker.

"He talks of bludgeoned members. Does he realize what imputation he has made against the majority in this legislature. Is it true that any man here is so weak as to submit to dictation. ALLEGED BLUEBEARDESS STARTS JOURNEY TO U. S.

Honolulu—Paul Vincent Southard, husband of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged feminine "bluebeard," remained in Honolulu Thursday despite his expressed desire to accompany his wife to the mainland.

Mrs. Southard, in charge of Deputy Sheriff W. H. Ormsby of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Mrs. Ormsby, left Thursday on the liner Matsushita for San Francisco, enroute to Twin Falls to face trial. She is charged with poisoning four husbands and her brother-in-law. Southard accompanied his wife about the steamer and bade her an emotional farewell. After the vessel left Southard could not be found and a police search was started for him. Fearing he had stowed away, radio requests were sent that the Matsushita be searched. Late in the evening, however, Southard was found in Honolulu.

Mrs. Southard will reach San Francisco June 6.

WANT FIRE HOUSE IN FOURTH WARD

Council Wants Chance to Study
Two Platoon Law—Bridge
Matter Held Up.

Practically the entire session of the common council Wednesday evening was taken up with a discussion of the advisability of the purchase of a fire house which was finally acquired by the city by a vote of 7 to 4.

The committee on streets to whom was referred the matter of disposing of two acres of the poor farm to the Konz Box and Lumber Co. reported it had reached no decision as the land needed by the company included the extension of Lawrence-st. The matter was referred to the entire council which will visit the scene within the next few days.

The council went on record as opposed to bill No. 468 relating to the changing of the present mother's pension law and also to the Peterson bill, both of which are before the legislature.

Taxpayers owning property abutting streets to be paved were given 30 days to decide whether they want an extension of time for the payment of the pavement by the passage of a resolution relating thereto.

A resolution providing for taking care of back water on Second-st. was referred to the street committee. The committees on fire and water, street lighting, streets and bridges made several recommendations that were adopted.

A communication from the Loyal Order of Moose with reference to a license for a carnival which is to be given here the week of June 13 was referred to the license committee with power to act.

Plans and specifications of the city engineer for the improvement of certain streets were adopted. A bubblers was ordered on the second floor of the city hall.

Alderman McCann wanted to know what had become of the petition for a new bridge on Lawrence-st. signed by a large number of taxpayers and was informed that it was still in the hands of the street committee and would receive attention in the near future.

Alderman Murphy inquired if it was not time the city was providing a fire department for the Fourth ward and was advised it would be looked after as soon as the law providing for a double platoon system had been familiarized. The clerk was instructed to procure a copy of the law for each alderman.

Bills amounting to $15,508.46 were allowed.

Holiday Outing

Mr. and Mrs. William Fish and children and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Verrier and children, which constituted a party of 13, had their first outing of the season Sunday and Monday. They started for Milwaukee early Sunday morning and upon reaching Lincoln park on the outskirts of the city pitched their tents on the bank of Milwaukee river. Memorial day was spent in town and the parade was one of the features which they witnessed. They made the trip to Milwaukee by way of Fond du Lac and returned early Tuesday morning by way of Sheboygan and Manitowish.

COUNCIL VOTES TO BUY PIERCE PARK FOR CITY

commerce favoring the purchase of the park were read by the clerk and placed on file. A communication from Neill M. Studley of Milwaukee, offering the city West park for a consideration of $12,000 was also read and placed on file.

When the resolution offered by Alderman Laabs came up for passage Mayor Hawes announced that the aldermen would be the first to be heard and after they had finished he would be glad to hear anyone else who had anything to offer.

Alderman Murphy was opposed to the purchase of the park and said the people showed where they stood at the special election. He did not think it was right to go over their heads and favored again submitting the matter to a vote of the taxpayers.

Alderman Smith took an opposite stand. He said it was a natural park and that it would take a great many years to produce anything like it. "If we let this opportunity slip by," he said, "it will be a great many years before we can have a park as good as this one."

Sale is Threatened
Alderman Wood said he was informed that if the park was not purchased that evening it was to be sold the day following. "I would be very glad to put it to a vote of the people," he said, "but the owners are not going to wait. I am satisfied if we do not take action tonight there is no use taking any action. I think the vote ought to be unanimous."

Alderman Mayer claimed working men were not in favor of purchasing the park and he thought it unwise to purchase it for speculation. He called attention to the fact that sewers were needed and the city would have to spend money upon them. Taxes were as high as they could be made, he said.

Alderman McGilgan did not want it understood that he was personally opposed to the purchase of the park but said he did not want to appear before the council and vote for a proposition the taxpayers turned down two years previous. "We have got to spend money for schools," he said, "and we have a big school proposition now. I don't see how I can vote against the wishes of the people. You got to pick out the most essential thing and that is the school. A park is a luxury and not a necessity."

The aldermen opposed to the purchase of the park were solicitous about the working man whom they claimed were opposed to the project for the reason the investment would make their taxes unbearable. Alderman Laabs assured them, however, such was not the case as by issuing long term bonds the taxes on the average working man's home would not be increased more than $2.40 a year and he would be deriving a benefit if he and his family spent only one day's outing at the park a season.

Diderrich Urges Purchase
John R. Diderrich was the first outside speaker called upon. He strongly urged the purchasing of the park and said in his opinion the city would be making a grave mistake if it did not take it while it had an opportunity. He said that the park which nature was 200 years in the making was for the man who had no automobile.

Major Lothar G. Graef also made a strong appeal in favor of gaining possession of the property. "I may never have any use for it," he said, "but I live at the extreme end of town, but I do not know where my children will live when they grow up. We are a growing city and growing west. If I see things clearly it is not going to be many years before Pierce park will be very much the center of the city. There is not a man in the city today who can and will derive as much pleasure from the park as the working man."

For the Working Man
Postmaster Gustav Keller urged the necessity of the city gaining possession of the property while it still had an opportunity. "It is a park," he said, "upon which you will not have to spend very much for some time to come. I am in favor of purchasing it because of the working man and not because of the man of wealth. I am as useful in five of the purchase of this park because of the man who can not afford to go away and enjoy other places." He said the aldermen will probably be criticised by some who later on will extend to them their appreciation for having performed their duty.

T. B. Reid recalled the criticism bestowed upon the men responsible for the purchase of the city park 40 years ago and wanted to know if there was anyone who would be willing to part with it today. He also called attention to the fact that the park was paved which disappeared soon after the work was completed. It appeared to him a very narrow policy to oppose the securing of the property at this time.

A. W. Priest Protests
Fred Felix Wettengel, chairman of the park commission, was the final speaker. He outlined the course the commission has in view which included the extension of Jones park to College-ave. with an entrance on College-ave.; the acquiring of the big ravine north of the railroad track to Atlantic-st.; purchase of West park and the ravine south of Darby-ave. and other ravines and beauty spots. He was of the opinion that the parks ought to be improved to a certain extent and called attention to the need of rest rooms especially in Jones park. After the vote was announced A. W. Priest, who failed to take the floor when the opposition was invited to do so by Mayor Hawes, offered a protest and said the assemblage was not a representative gathering and did not carry out the wishes of the people generally.

He outlined the course the commission has in view which included the extension of Jones park to College-ave. with an entrance on College-ave.; the acquiring of the big ravine north of the railroad track to Atlantic-st.; purchase of West park and the ravine south of Darby-ave. and other ravines and beauty spots. He was of the opinion that the parks ought to be improved to a certain extent and called attention to the need of rest rooms especially in Jones park. After the vote was announced A. W. Priest, who failed to take the floor when the opposition was invited to do so by Mayor Hawes, offered a protest and said the assemblage was not a representative gathering and did not carry out the wishes of the people generally.

For the Working Man
Postmaster Gustav Keller urged the necessity of the city gaining possession of the property while it still had an opportunity. "It is a park," he said, "upon which you will not have to spend very much for some time to come. I am in favor of purchasing it because of the working man and not because of the man of wealth. I am as useful in five of the purchase of this park because of the man who can not afford to go away and enjoy other places." He said the aldermen will probably be criticised by some who later on will extend to them their appreciation for having performed their duty.

T. B. Reid recalled the criticism bestowed upon the men responsible for the purchase of the city park 40 years ago and wanted to know if there was anyone who would be willing to part with it today. He also called attention to the fact that the park was paved which disappeared soon after the work was completed. It appeared to him a very narrow policy to oppose the securing of the property at this time.

A. W. Priest Protests
Fred Felix Wettengel, chairman of the park commission, was the final speaker. He outlined the course the commission has in view which included the extension of Jones park to College-ave. with an entrance on College-ave.; the acquiring of the big ravine north of the railroad track to Atlantic-st.; purchase of West park and the ravine south of Darby-ave. and other ravines and beauty spots. High School Seniors Star As Actors In Annual Play

"Mysterious Miss Murdock" Is Presented Before Capacity
City Crowd.

Dramatic events of the high school season came to the climax of the year Wednesday evening when members of the senior class presented the clever comedy, "The Mysterious Miss Murdock" at Appleton theatre. Leading roles were taken by Ralph Mullenix as Robert Underwood; Elmer Dunn as Allan Cudahy; Frank VanWyk as Daniel J. Hill; Estelle Hagen as Elizabeth Hill; Catherine Corbett as Clementine Mahoney and later Davidora Murdock, and Geraldine Rammer as Mrs. Ezekiel Grover, proprietress of the college boarding house.

Action is centered about Clementine Mahoney who doesn't reveal her real identity as the "Mysterious Miss Murdock" until the very last. Her adventures while masquerading as a waitress at the boarding house are varied and include being proposed to by one of the students, Allen Cudahy, and evading her own lawyer who decides to board "underneath the same roof" which harbors her.

The scenes are laid at a college boarding house which is a rendezvous for the "crowd." Phil Jacobson as Franklyn Corby, "Corby" of Philadelphia, Pa., and Albert Ogilvie as Hamlin Wolcott, "Beans" of Boston, Mass., with Robert Underwood and Allan Cudahy form a typical group of inseparable college chums.

Rayborn Bohon as Forest Roberts, "Bunt" of Providence, R. I., provoked a great deal of amusement as a book worm who delved with delight into the funeral habits of the ancients in one scene and through the kindly assistance of his fellow students, at the suggestion of his father, turned his attention to athletics in the next. The result was astounding to his father as he saw his "athletic" son appearing with the aid of crutches and almost concealed with bandages and dressings from injuries received. Carl Damsheuser took the part of Hon. David Roberts, Forrest's father.

Bill Prime, oldest man in town, chore boy at the boarding house, one of the outstanding characters of the play, brought peals of laughter at every appearance with his droll interest in the affairs of the "young blood" and his taste for reminiscence.

The charming role of Betty Hill, most popular girl in college, was delightfully assumed by Estelle Hagen. She was well supported by Ann Do-hearty as her chum, Grace Henderson, and Helen Henbest as Nellie Hannon. Babette Marshall took the part of "Beatrice," attractive but forsaken wife of Robert Sage, partner of Daniel Hill. George Ballard as Robert Sage had aspirations for the hand and heart of Betty Hill.

Mario Morse as Allice Fisher, Evelyn Clausen as Gertrude Carleton; Cecile Fose as Jane Hampton and Annette Landers as Sella Cameron appeared from time to time as coeds.

The character of Mrs. Grover, keeper of the boarding house who carried the burden of all of the mysteries and secrets incumbent on college life, was interpreted in masterful manner by Geraldine Rammer.

Eugene Botway took the part of Silas Hopkins, lawyer for the Murdock interests, who was as clay in the hands of Miss Murdock. Russell Skeel, Willis Van Heuklon, James Kreiss and Stanley Lowe were students, and members of the "crowd."

The costuming of the play was delightful and contributed not a little to the success of the whole.

The play is one of the concluding events of a very eventful year of the class of '21. Director of the play was in the hands of Miss Rose Ellen McNevin, head of the expression department.

Mrs. Anna Briese, 515 Franklin-st., returned Wednesday from Columbus where she was called by the death of her brother-in-law, Richard Fritz.

Home Grown Berries
Home grown strawberries soon will be making their appearance on the market. Growers already are finding ripe berries here and there in their patches. Indications are that the first heavy pick will be on sale in stores by the latter part of next week. The crop is believed to be somewhat lighter than a year ago, because the plants were exposed to frost and cold last winter.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank relatives, friends, neighbors, Rev. Theo. Marth, and The American Legion for the kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our son and brother, and also for the floral offerings.

(Signed) Mr. and Mrs. A. Storm and family.

ONLY BLACK BASS DENIED ANGLERS

Fishing Season Will Be Wide Open All Through Wisconsin by July 1.

Wisconsin's fishing season is in full swing. The bass was lifted June 1 on all game fish except black bass and a lively rush of sportsmen is expected as a result. Local fishermen already are trying their prowess in the rivers and lakes and are having good results.

Trout fishing has been permitted since May 1 and the black bass season will open June 15, except in 14 northern counties where the season starts July 1. These counties are Douglas, Vilas, Price, Bayfield, Burnett, Polk, Ashland, Washburn, Barron, Iron, Sawyer, Rusk, Oneida and Forest.

Nonresidents of the state are required to pay a license fee of $2 for the privilege of fishing for bass, pike, pickerel and muskellunge, and $3 if trout is included.

Special summer vacation rates have been announced by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, with stop-over privileges and a fifteen day limit to many points in the northern part of the state, including Eagle River, Florence, Lac du Flambeau, Manitowish, Pelican, Phelps, Rhinelander, Three Lakes, Tomahawk lake, Winchester, Woodruff and other well known fishing and camping places.

Thousands of tourists' automobiles are expected here now that schools are closing. Wisconsin's tourist traffic has grown each year and is sure to become larger in the months to come, because each visitor goes back home proclaiming the wondrous beauty and fascination of the woods and lakes of the north.

MORE CLOTHES ARE ASKED FOR ORPHANS

There has been a fair response to the appeal of the Near East Relief committee for old clothing, shoes, blankets, sheets and other serviceable articles for Armenian sufferers. A supply is accumulating at Appleton Women's club rooms, but there is not enough as yet to make up a shipment of the size desired.

This work has been undertaken by Appleton Women's club for the relief committee. Articles may be donated Thursday evening and Friday, after which the goods will be packed and sent east. Clothing is being collected all over the United States to be shipped to the discharging centers in the Armenian provinces.

Maria P. Jacobson, an orphanage worker in Armenia, has written to friends in America that "hundreds of little children whom we took into our orphanage at Harpoot had dragged themselves for miles, suffering from acute rheumatism and pneumonia, simply for lack of clothing."

GUERNSEY BREEDERS TO HOLD PICNIC JUNE 22

June 22 is the date set for the annual picnic of the Fox River Valley Guernsey Breeders association, and it is to be held at the Leon J. Delahaut farm, near Green Bay. Preliminary arrangements were completed at a recent meeting in Green Bay which was attended by W. G. Jamison and W. L. Breitrick, Appleton.

Six young Guernsey bulls will be auctioned during the picnic by J. R. Love, well known Waukegan auctioneer. It is possible that George McKerrrow, Pewaukee, will deliver the address of the day.

Plenty of music and refreshments will be provided. There will be a brass band and large quantities of ice cream, fruit and cake. Each family will take its basket lunch, which will be served on large tables to be provided for the occasion.

Members of Appleton Chamber of Commerce and Green Bay Association of Commerce are to be invited to the picnic.

APPLETON YOUNG WOMEN TO TAKE PART IN PLAY

Three Appleton young ladies who are seniors in St. Joseph academy, Green Bay, will take part in the annual class play at the academy auditorium at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

This year's presentation will be "St. Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elizabeth of Thuringia." Miss Olga Gustave Keller, will play the role of Sophia; Miss Pauline McCullough, daughter of Mrs. Alice McCullough, the part of Rosamund, and Miss Louise Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Ryan, a lady in waiting.

MUST RENEW WAR RISK POLICIES BY JULY 1

Former service men whose date of discharge is more than 18 months prior to June, 1921, and whose war risk insurance lapsed before July 1, 1920, must apply for reinstatement of policies before July 1, 1921.

This notice is given out by the local Red Cross office, so that no service men of this county will miss the opportunity to keep up their insurance in case it has been allowed to lapse. Special forms have been received upon which to file applications for reinstatement.

Two monthly premiums on the amount of insurance the policyholder wishes to reinstate are required with all applications filed this month. Cases have been found here where former service men postponed their insurance renewal until their health became such they could not qualify for reinstatement. The Red Cross therefore has urged renewal of policies because of the depressing effect on both the insured and the dependents when a policy cannot be reinstated.

Set His Watch By Clock That Never Did Run

Eyes are not always dependable. At least one man, who appeared to be a farmer, probably found out and incidentally received either a cold dinner or a good scolding from friend wife. The man stood at the corner of College-ave. and Appleton-st., and looking toward the second story of the First National bank, behind the clock grade-mark painted on the window of Wetzel and Wottengel's office. Taking out his watch, the man was seen to compare notes a couple of times and then set his timepiece according to the "eleventh hour" which the hands on the sign always indicate. It was about 11:45 at the time, so when his empty stomach reminded him of mealtime, he probably strolled into the dining rooms about 45 minutes late.

TIGHT MONEY CAUSE OF LOW EGG PRICES

Speculators Unwilling to Buy Eggs Because Interest Rate Is Too High.

Eggs are retelling in Appleton all the way from 20 to 25 cents a dozen and the price paid farmers is from 18 to 19 cents. While not as plentiful on the market as they were some time ago they can still be had in large quantities, some of the farmers delivering to local grocery stores from 100 to 125 dozens on a single trip.

One west College-ave. grocer attributes the present low price of eggs to the high rate of interest money commands. Packers who other seasons bought up thousands of dozens for speculation purposes are doing very little buying this summer for the reason they are short of funds and unable to get money for less than 7 or 8 per cent.

"If the rate of interest was 5 per cent," said the grocer, "you couldn't touch eggs for less than 40 cents a dozen for the reason they would all be bought up. Speculators do not care to take chances with 8 per cent money. The only packing that is now being done is for home consumption. I have sold large quantities for this purpose, but as a usual thing home consumption packing makes very little impression on the market."

The grocer also attributes the present low price of butter to the same conditions. If money was plentiful and the rate of interest low the supply of butter would be bought up, he said.

BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE BIG SUMMER PROGRAM

With little chance of employment for younger boys and with traveling limited by high railroad fares and unemployment here, Appleton Boy Scout council expects to put in a busy summer providing wholesome, healthful recreation for members of various troops. Plans already are on foot for an extensive program, according to E. R. Henderson, scout executive.

Alicia park will be used regularly for overnight hikes and brief camping periods. Accommodations have been arranged, with a supply of pup tents and cooking facilities. No troops will be allowed to hike to the park without their scoutmaster or an adult in charge, however.

Observation trips will be planned and there will be other outdoor activities. Opportunity will be given the scouts to put into practice all the scouting lore they have learned during their winter training. It is also possible that several civic undertakings will be arranged in which all the boy scouts make take part.

SECOND DISTRICT HOLDS GRADUATION

Diplomas Are Presented to 78 Following Program in Lawrence Chapel.

Pupils of Second district schools acquitted themselves admirably in the annual commencement exercises in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening. The 78 graduates were seated on the platform, which was banked with palms and flowers.

Musical numbers were rendered by choruses of boys and girls and duets were given by Alvera VanOoyen and Florence Tritt, and by Florence Downer and Dorothy Small. Miss Miriam Peabody played a concert number on the piano and was heartily applauded for her skill.

A feature of the program that impressed the audience was the presentation of two orations, "Our Heritage" by John Green, and "Pioneer Days on the Upper Mississippi" by Sidney Cohen. Both selections were prepared by the boys themselves and would have been creditable to high school graduates. The readings were quite long, but the speakers delivered them without hesitation. A reading, "The Boy Who Said 'G'wan'" by Walter Griffin also brought hearty applause. Diplomas were presented by Ben J. Rohan, principal. He spoke briefly to the students, emphasizing the idea that hard work and constant application to duty are the only means of achieving permanent success.

Prettier Teeth Next Week

If you will now start this delightful test

This is to offer you a way to whiter teeth, cleaner, safer teeth. Such glistening teeth as millions now enjoy.

Your dealer will give you the means. Get it and watch the effects. See your teeth grow prettier—note how clean they feel.

Dentists everywhere advise this method. Millions of homes have adopted it. Try it this week, for your own sake. Learn what it means to you.

To remove the film

Your teeth are coated with a dingy film. It is viscous—you can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It clouds the teeth and causes most tooth troubles.

The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact. As a result, teeth lose their luster. And, despite all brushing, tooth troubles have been constantly increasing.

The film is what discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Many other serious troubles are also traced to them.

Science combats it

Dental science has long sought ways to combat that film. The ways have now been found. Able authorities have amply proved them. Leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a new-day tooth paste—Pepsodent. It combats the film wherever it may linger. In this way it brings surprising results which one quickly sees. Over 5,000 new people daily are trying out this modern method.

Fights acids too

Pepsodent brings three other effects which authorities now desire.

It multiplies the salivary flow—Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acid.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids which cause decay. Pepsin is also included.

A STEP FORWARD

Appleton took another progressive step Tuesday evening when its councilmen authorized the purchase of Pierce park by a decisive majority. The action of the councilmen should leave no doubt in the minds of Appleton citizens as to the ability of their representatives to judge fairly and act wisely when a matter of importance and significance is before them.

That there will be criticism of the action of the council is inevitable. It was ever thus. No great achievement, no great public improvement in Appleton, or in any other city, in any state or nation was ever made without critics. The founders of our present beautiful parks, the early advocates of street pavements, other pioneers in beautifying our city were severely criticised, and protests were hurled at them at every opportunity, but who is there today who would say that we should do away with the City park, Jones park, or other beauty spots, or tear up our pavements and destroy other city improvements. These things today are only possible because of the foresight and courage of our city fathers of earlier years, advocated and carried on through storms of protest and remonstrance.

And so it may be with the Pierce park project. Critics of today will have changed to boosters of tomorrow. A year, five years or ten years will prove the farsighted, wise and proper course taken by our city officials Tuesday evening. The next and future generations will glorify their action. Future Appleton will have a real park alongside its delightful river that will merit the admiration of every citizen: that will excite the jealousy of our neighboring cities; that will charm the visitor; and that will retain for Appleton a high place among the beautiful cities of the land. Not then will there be objection to this proposition, not then will there be protests against these councilmen who will stand as high in the estimation of our future citizenship as do the city fathers of an earlier day who gave beautiful Appleton its start.

The councilmen deserve congratulations and cooperation from every citizen for the courage and far-sightedness they have so wisely displayed.

VETO OF THE MATHESON BILL

Governor Blaine is right, we think, in his veto of the Matheson prohibition enforcement bill. The governor's veto message shows him to be a partisan of neither the prohibition forces nor the liquor interests. So far as his analysis of the bill goes it indicates an impartial executive attitude, concerned solely with honest and effective administration of the dry law.

Governor Blaine charges that the Matheson bill was drafted and forced upon the legislature by a dictatorial lobby of the Anti-Saloon league which "bludgeoned members into acquiescence by a vicious propaganda of misrepresentation and through appeal to prejudice." So far as the appeal to prejudice goes, that could hardly be a valid indictment of the Anti-Saloon league. Legislators are presumed to have enough intelligence to discriminate between appeals to prejudice and appeals to reason. They may not have independence and they may be subservient to intimidation and the propaganda of reprisal, but that is a weakness which has no relation to mental discernment.

However, it is quite possible that the governor is right in his contention that a dry lobby forced this bill through against the will and judgment of a weak-kneed legislature. Inasmuch as he has made the direct charge, and is on the ground and should know whereof he speaks, we prefer to believe that he has stated the situation correctly. Granting that the governor is within the fact, the bill still should be judged by its merits. This Governor Blaine has attempted to do. While he admits that in some respects the Matheson bill is an improvement over the Mulberger act, he holds that "its defects far outweigh any improvement." The governor objects to the measure on the ground that it authorizes spying on the home and family life which is certain to become repulsive and a menace to the success of any enforcement act. We believe he is correct, and that it is easily possible to carry espionage to the point where it will frustrate the purposes of the law itself. Mr. Blaine also condemns the bill on the ground that its provisions and purposes are involved, and that administration of a law of this character would be made difficult by the red tape with which enforcement is surrounded.

Governor Blaine declares he is for effective enforcement of prohibition in Wisconsin. He makes himself clear and positive in his position on the constitutional amendment. He wants a law that will follow the same lines as the federal Volstead act so that the federal and state officers may cooperate in concurrent enforcement. His view is that such a law should be "plain, definite, easily understood, as brief as possible, and in conformity with the supreme law of the land." Mr. Blaine seems to have taken a sensible view of the question put up to him by the Matheson act. If experience has proved anything it has shown that the more complicated and the more inquisitive, the less effective is prohibition enforcement.

The fundamental purpose of the prohibition amendment is to stop the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. It is to wipe out the commercialized liquor traffic. When it comes to interfering with activities within the home and the strictly private life of the individual, that is a phase of prohibition which can never be successfully applied, even if legally authorized, and in the end will react against the constitutional amendment. Governor Blaine takes a reasonable, and it seems to us, an ethical and sound view of prohibition. We think the legislature should follow his advice and pass the kind of enforcement bill he advocates.

REDUCING RAILROAD WAGES

The action of the United States Railway Shipping board authorizing a twelve per cent cut in railroad wages effective July 1 is what was generally expected. Without doubt the reduction will be opposed as well as censured by many railroad men, but we must not forget the consideration that was given them a year ago by the same board when it increased their wages twenty-two per cent.

We have proceeded far enough with deflation to know that it cannot apply to everything else but labor. There are some industries in which wages will not be cut, but they are to be the exception and not the rule. The products of the farm, of agriculture, dairying, stock raising, etc. have suffered heavy declines. Lumber, cotton, wool and hides have been reduced in varying degrees, from moderate to excessive. Steel, sugar and many other staple commodities have come down. In practically every line where labor is extensively employed there has been a scaling down of prices. So far as the cost of living is concerned, it has been materially lowered in almost every field except rent and utility service, where it still remains high.

The farmer and the manufacturer have taken heavy losses in the readjustment. Notwithstanding the deflation which has taken place in agriculture and industry, numerous factories all over the country are down or running on part time. There is greater unemployment than the country has known for years past. In the matter of wages, it is a question in many instances whether the men are willing to take moderate reductions in wages or have no wages at all. That is the situation and it must be faced frankly and intelligently. Newspapers do not presume to say what employers or employees should do in their contract relations. It is a matter for their particular decision. The public is concerned to the extent where its voice may be raised only when differences begin to affect its fundamental civil rights. They have not done so as yet, and it is to be hoped we shall get through this period of readjustment without grave clashes between employers and employees.

In the case of the railroads, we have a comparatively simple proposition to deal with in its larger phase. Railroad rates are excessively high. We are rapidly reaching an economic situation where they are becoming prohibitive. In other words, deflation has progressed in some lines to the point where transportation costs are greater than the value of the commodity itself and absolutely prevent its extensive consumption. The high rail rates have come from high rail costs. It is imperative that rates be reduced. Everybody recognizes that, including the president. While the men say costs may be lowered by securing greater efficiency of management, and while they assert there is extravagance and waste, the owners on the other hand make the same claims in regard to the labor conditions to which they are subjected.

Inasmuch as the labor board has shown a disposition all along to protect the interests of the men, and inasmuch as for the last six years governmental policies so far as railroad employees were concerned have been distinctly liberal and have granted the men about all they asked, it is only fair to assume that in its present decision the labor board has acted ethically and according to its best judgment, harmonizing to the best of its ability the interests of employees, railroads and the public at large.

TREATMENT OF BIRTH MARKS

Nevus (older spelling, naevus) is the medical term for birthmark. There are two types of nevi, the pigmented mole or stain, and the vascular nevus or port wine mark.

The pigmented mole may be any size from the size of half the fingernail to a wartlike mark the size of the hand, on any part of the body but most frequently on the forehead, neck and back. They sometimes appear only some months after birth. They seldom change in size or character when once developed, although there is a certain tendency for moles to undergo malignant degeneration (become cancers) in persons of middle age or older, and this is particularly true of blue or black moles.

Small brown moles may be removed by electrolysis, by fulguration (an electric treatment used only by physicians), or by the actual cautery (incandescence heat). No one except a surgeon or physician may safely attempt the removal of these birthmarks. Large moles, especially when they are warty or rough or covered with hairs, may also be removed by electrolysis, but in most cases the best results are obtained from X-ray alone, or sometimes from operation followed by X-ray treatment. In recent years surgeons or physicians have employed carbon dioxide snow (solidified carbonic acid) with much success in destroying birthmarks without producing disfiguring scar. Carbon dioxide snow cannot be employed by any one without surgical training. It freezes the tissue to which it is applied. Vascular nevi may be small, flat port wine stains (capillary vessel dilated), or larger, thicker lesions made up of dilated veins, varying from bright red to purple in color. The color disappears momentarily under pressure, unlike that of the pigmented mole. The larger vascular nevi collapse under pressure like a sponge. The skin over the mark is sometimes smooth, but most commonly roughened like orange peel.

Birthmarks of one kind or another are present in one-third of all newborn infants. Nobody can explain birthmarks. The only wonder is that any of us are born without birthmarks—that human development is usually so perfect to the smallest particular.

A modern treatment for vascular nevi is the injection of hot water. In some cases electrolysis (the electric needle) may prove successful or at least improve the appearance. Tattooing with acids gives fair results in skilled surgical hands. In young babies freezing the mark with carbon dioxide snow for a few seconds often proves successful. X-ray and radium treatments have both been found effective in removing different types of vascular nevi. All of these treatments are obviously unsafe except in skilled hands. There is no safe treatment applicable for birthmarks in the hands of any one who has not had proper training. Hideous scar formation and septic poisoning are the great dangers when such treatment is attempted by unqualified persons.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Thursday, June 4, 1896

C. H. Russell, postmaster of Appleton from 1867 to 1895 was renewing old acquaintances. He was sheriff of Green County.

Among the leading athletes of Lawrence university who were to participate in the field day meet at Ripon the following day were W. M. Jolliffe, Ralph White, Robert Boyd and W. S. Westcott. Mr. and Mrs. James Green entertained a group of friends at lunch the previous evening in honor of their fifth wedding anniversary. The prizes were won by Mrs. J. W. Schreiter and John A. Brill.

The declamatory contest at Ryan high school was won by Miss Layla Stone. The contest for second place resulted in a tie between Kitty Jessimer and Flora Hartung.

At the regular meeting of the common council the previous evening the ordinance granting a franchise across Fox river and through the city to the interurban electric railway from Neenah to Kaukauna was passed. The route was over Lake street bridge, on the east side of which an extension was to be built. Aldermen Harwood, Pearson, Kobor, Peerenboom, Ryan and Wright voted in favor of the passage of the ordinance and Aldermen Brown, Leonard, Lyons and Mayer against it.

All wool ingrain carpets at Pettibone's were reduced to 48 cents.

Mrs. G. N. Richmond of Tacoma, Wash., was visiting Mrs. H. W. Tenney after an absence of six years from the city.

Anton Vanderhoof discovered $98 in stamps, three drills of different sizes and a 32-caliber revolver under a freight car at Appleton Junction. The property belonged to a gang of burglars who robbed Marinette postoffice the night before and who were arrested in Appleton.

PAUPER HAS $4900

London.—John Palfrey, 70, thin and clad in rags, died as a state charge in an infirmary. In a bag around his neck police found a bank book with a credit of $400, war stock worth $2,000 and treasury note worth $2500.

BANDITS USE GRENADES

Stadisch-Dombrova, Germany.—Twenty bandits surrounded the home of an official here. After he and his family had fled, the bandits threw 100 hand grenades into the house, destroying the interior. They seized $500 and escaped.

PARENTS CRUSH BOVIE

Romacheld, Germany.—High school students organized a soviet to run the school. School heads suspended the soviet members. The students went on strike for 10 days. Then parents applied the law rods to the young communists. School as usual.

Imported Infants

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City.—An interesting novelty in foreign importations is being introduced in New York this season. It is babies—British babies—carefully selected and free from all home ties, ready for adoption in childless American homes.

Haskin

They come in both sexes and in both blonde and brunette colorings, so that the would-be adopter has a variety from which to pick his favorite baby type. Each is a beauty as beauty is defined in babyland, and is guaranteed to be under one year old. All are bargains! No such infants could be procured for adoption in this country. In fact it is becoming increasingly difficult to find any American babies at all that may be adopted wholly and legally, with all rights reserved. That is why they are being imported from England, which has a surplus supply to spare.

They are being brought to this country through a cooperative arrangement with the National Adoption Society of England and the newly-formed British-American Adoption Committee of this city. The first 15 infants, accompanied by a doctor and five nurses, arrived on one steamer several days ago, and were distributed evenly among three New York adoption nurseries, affiliated with the committee. All of these 15 are now bespoken, and the committee has called for another supply.

As soon as it was learned that the babies had arrived, the nurseries were besieged by scores of eager women, some in fashionable limousines, some on foot, some married and some not, each trying to persuade the nurses in charge to give her one of the youngsters. Even while the infants were getting used to their new cribs and the fascinating, bright-colored pictures on the nursery walls, their fates were being decided in the front offices. Most of them, we are informed, are to go to families who are socially prominent in New York, and will doubtless inherit considerable wealth when they grow up. But the British baby is not necessarily snobbish. He does not insist upon wealth; but merely a good, comfortable home, where he will receive excellent care and the personal attention and affection that all babies require.

Large Demand for Babies

That there are plenty of such homes only too anxious to adopt infants is shown by the large number of requests received every year by the adoption nurseries in New York—requests that can't possibly be filled by the meager supply of babies turned in by the city hospitals. The many founding asylums are crowded with children, of course, but not the kind that people want.

"The average person who wishes to adopt a child," says Miss Clara B. Spence, secretary of the new adoption committee, "desires a baby rather than a half-grown child or even one three or four years old. Sweet, innocent little babies, less than a year old, are extremely difficult to obtain. Owing to the rules and regulations connected with founding homes, it is impossible to find a home for babies unless they conform to certain religious denominations.

"In England there is an oversupply of babies who may be adopted and surrendered given. Many people who have lost sons in the war in England have taken babies into their homes, but still there is an oversupply, and since our list for children for babies not older than one year cannot be supplied from this country, we are turning to England.

"One reason for the oversupply of English babies is the fact that the adoption laws in England are not favorable to adopting. There a child may have but one guardian and an adopted child cannot inherit property, while in America the legally adopted child is an heir just as any other member of the family."

THE QUESTION BOX

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. What are the largest universities of the world? H. F. N.

A. The United States Bureau of Education states that there are no comparative statistics on the subject. It says that among the educational colleges which have proved most popular are Columbia University in New York City, the University of California, at Berkeley, and the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia. The famous British Universities are Cambridge and Oxford. In France the Academy of Science is extremely well known. In Germany, Heidelberg is the country's best known university, and the music schools of Munich and Dresden are also internationally famous. The University of Rome, Italy, is the leading university of that country. Among the oldest universities of the world is that at Cairo, Egypt.

Q. How old is the American shoe industry, and what state leads in it? A. H. C.

A. The manufacture of shoes in what is now the United States was begun in 1629 by Thomas Beard who came over on the Mayflower on its third voyage and brought hides for making shoes. Seven years later Philip Kortland of Buckinghamshire began making shoes in Lynn, Mass. Since that date the state of Massachusetts has come to lead the world

Miss Spence, who is principal of Miss Spence's School for Girls on West Fifty-fifth Street here, has been interested in securing good homes for children for a number of years. She and her assistant, Miss Charlotte Baker, have placed over 200 children with excellent families, and each has herself adopted a child. They have two adoption nurseries to their credit: A private one of their own and another financed by the Spence Almshouse Association. They are also interested in the Alice Chapin Nursery, the pioneer in its field, started several years ago and still run by Dr. and Mrs. Henry Dwight Chapin.

In his hospital practice Dr. Chapin long ago discovered a curious fact about babies. He found that their one absolute requirement in life, more important even than food and sleep, was a mother's love. He found that you could take an ailing infant and feed it the most nutritious food in the most scientific quantities, see that it got plenty of fresh air and sound sleep, and that for a short time—usually a month—it would thrive. Then, suddenly, it would start to lose weight and fade away. Why? Because it was not receiving the necessary amount of cuddles and endearments, and its terrific little ego simply dropped and wilted.

Babies Need Attention

The doctor was so convinced of this that he could no longer bear to see babies sent away to institutions. Instead he secured permission from the hospital and took them home to his wife, who fitted a nursery up for them on the top floor of her house, and proceeded to lavish affection upon them until they once more showed an interest in life.

From the informal beginning the present Alice Chapin Nursery at 2100 Lexington Avenue here, grew. It consists of 11 rooms, with a roof garden, fitted up scientifically for the care of 8 babies, but carefully avoiding the atmosphere of an institution. As far as possible, the baby is treated as an individual. He has his own playthings; he gets his share of caresses from his nurse, and he is flattered and amused.

There are only two nurses for the eight babies, however, which Mrs. Chapin considers a handicap. She thinks it would be better if there were only four babies to each nursery unit.

"For we have found," says Mrs. Chapin, "that even with a nurse to every four babies, they begin to pine and their progress is slower after they have been here a month or more. What each baby needs is a home, and frequently the baby has just as much influence upon adopted parents as they have upon him. The baby is grateful for his good care, and repays in happiness. Frequently one of these adopted babies will save a neurotic woman from illness by giving her an interest in life.

The Chapin Nursery is a clearing house for babies. It rescues them from various quarters and keeps them until good homes for them are found. Often, as is usually the case with foundlings, very little concerning the infant is known. It may have been dropped on a doorstep, found on a river-bank, or taken from a dying mother who left no record of her identity. However, the Chapins guarantee their babies. If they fail to please, the adopters may return them within a year—a possibility so rare that it has occurred only once or twice in over 300 cases. On the other hand the Chapins do not immediately lose sight of their babies. They manage to keep in touch with them in their new homes for a certain length of time until they are convinced that conditions are favorable.

Many of the babies taken from the Chapin Nursery during the past two years have been adopted by unmarried women. According to Dr. Chapin, the material instinct is often very highly developed in some of these unmarried applicants, whereas, he says, it is often only slightly developed in married women who are mothers of children. Many of the scores of requests received for the new British infants have come from successful business and professional women who, though avoiding matrimony, are not averse to raising a family.

Confessions of a Bride

THE BOOK OF MARTHA

Bob's Secret is Solved

Very sure was I that Ann knew something about my husband's big secret. Therefore I resolved to ask her what she knew, and if possible to free myself forever from my torturing doubts concerning Bob's whereabouts at the time of my absence in New York. Bob and I had been very happy since we had come together again, but underlying my own happiness was a certain unrest. I had a feeling of instability, a sense that I was being cheated.

Having cheated me once, what was to hold Bob back from cheating me again? That doubt, that fear, I am sure is the curse which follows the estrangements of the married. It takes a long time for a wife to forget if once her trust has been violated; a longer time to arrive at anything like her original confidence in the man to whom she gave her bridal faith.

Happy indeed is the husband—and very wise who cherishes the precious faith of his bride, and does his fair share to save it from destruction! I suppose I ought to have had some compunction about putting any queries about my husband to Ann.

but when did a jealous wife ever hamper her own sleuthing. Ann had no compunctions about replying when I asked what she knew about Bob's secret.

"Not much—you silly!" she said. "All I know is that Katherine Miller was employed by the vice crusaders to do a little detective work. Katherine told me. And she took Bob along to take care of her." No more could Mistress Ann tell me, but she added this advice: "Why don't you put it up to Bob?"

Little had I imagined that the pretty rouged girl whom I had seen leaving the burning prison in a procession had any possible connection with my personal affairs! The very idea made me furious, and my wrath made me brave, and so that night I asked Bob how he had spent the time of my absence in New York.

Bob thought a long time before he replied, then he spoke with the resigned air of one who has decided to make a clean breast of a bad matter. "Morrison asked Katherine to do a little investigating at some of the hotels. It was for the vice crusaders," he explained. "I went with her."

"I don't see any sense in that!" I said bitterly.

Adventures of the Twins

Olive Roberts Barton

The Honey-Tree
Up the button-ball tree shinnied Butter-Ball Brown Bear and Billy-Bunch Brown Bear, while their parents waited below.

Back in the hole under the great oak where the bears lived, Flippety-Flap and Nancy and Nick waited patiently, wondering what in creation had become of the missing family. You know and I know, but land alive! how could the visitors know?

"I'll keep the bees away if they come," called Mr. Bruin encouragingly to his sons.

"How?" called down Billy-Bunch curiously, looking down. He knew that bees, once they take a notion, are pretty hard to keep away.

"Oh, I'll tell 'em a story!" said Mr. Bruin, giggling at his own joke.

"Ugh!" exclaimed Billy-Bunch in disgust. He didn't like to be fooled. Up he skeddaddled again to catch his brother.

The bear boys soon reached the place where the tricky stuff was, and stopped to taste it, holding on by their long toe-nails, in the bark below. But do you know, children, a button-ball tree has such smooth bark (all patchy, white and brown) that I don't see how they did it.

"Hurry up!" urged their daddy from below.

"Yes, we're hurrying," answered Butter-Ball, sticking his hand into a great round hole and feeling 'round. "M-m-m-m!" he exclaimed to Billy-Bunch. "It's just full of honey! I can feel it fine, all cozy and sticky. Let's just have one nibble before we take down Mama's breakfast. She won't care."

"All right," answered Billy-Bunch wiggling his nose. "Dish me out a handful!"

"Hi there!" called up Bruin suspiciously. "What are you two doing?"

"Just finding out if it's good enough for Mama," called down Butter-Ball. We don't want to take her sour honey. We're tasting it."

DRY LEAGUE PUTS BLAME ON BLAINE

Present Legislature Has Been Satisfactory to State
Prohibitionists.

Special to Post-Crescent.
Madison—The Anti-Saloon League officials will comment upon the action of Governor John J. Blaine in vetoing the Matheron dry enforcement bill after they see the bill endorsed by the governor. Its introduction is expected in the assembly today.

The report of R. P. Hutton, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League says "Upon the governor's action at this moment rests the responsibility for starting or staying effective dry law enforcement for Wisconsin."

After throwing down the challenge, Hutton said: "In view of these facts we ask that we be permitted later to file a supplemental report, both as to this bill and as to the governor's attitude toward enforcement."

The report shows that the action of the legislature was highly satisfactory to the league. "In campaigning," said the report, "we have never seen anything approaching the constancy of the dry support in this legislature. Also who never vote together on anything else have been in daily conference in support of this bill."

Arrangements for another high school dance to be given Friday evening in the auditorium are nearly completed. Fen Pugh's orchestra of Appleton, has been engaged. A decoration committee under the chairmanship of Miss Elizabeth Donaldson has charge of the decorating. The party is open to high school students and persons who are interested in promoting properly conducted dances. The party will be chaperoned by several men active in school affairs and their wives.

The railroad T. M. C. A. baseball team seems to be unable to get started in the Twilight League which plays every Monday and Thursday afternoon. The team lost the first game to Thilmany and was defeated a second time by the railroad shops Tuesday afternoon, 9 to 4.

The men on the "Y" team say that the league is still young and there is plenty of time to step out after the bacon. This afternoon's game is scheduled at 3:30 between Thilmany and the store clerks.

THIS GIRL WON'T BE BLUFFED

Miss Nellie T. Holt Square Butte, Mont.—"Quit? Not I," declares Miss Nellie T. Holt. She filed a claim last year and built a two-room house. Only the well was left on the place when she returned this spring after spending the winter here, editing her paper.

Neighbors could not explain the disappearance of the house. Miss Holt believes cattle interests opposed to her encroaching on grazing land removed it.

"I'll show 'em," she said, as she started to build another house.

FLYING MAKES MEN LOOK UP TO HER

Aviatrix Says She Won't Rest Until She Holds All Airplane Records.

Special to Post-Crescent New York.—"The higher you go the more fun you get!"

This is the slogan of Laura Bromwell, the girl pilot of 23 who has just won her own record of 87 consecutive loops in the air by looping 193 times.

"The sky—nothing but the sky for me," sings Laura, "there you have the whole world looking up to you—and you can look down upon it."

"That's why looping is such rare sport. You glimpse the ground, and loop higher, you glimpse the ground again, and loop higher still. It's sport for gods—or goddesses."

She loves the thrill that comes from making earthbound mortals marvel.

"I want to be different—distinguished—proud of myself," she says frankly. "I want the world to notice. Oh, I'm not so different in just that! Other women want to be noticed, too. That's why they wear low-neck gowns and short skirts."

"But I want to be noticed not for what I wear, but for what I do. Dangerous! Sure. But if it wasn't dangerous everybody would be doing it."

"I wish more women would take to flying. There's nothing like the fresh high air for one's brains. Then we could have women's contests. And make all the men look up to us."

Men—mention of the word makes her droop like a heavy motor.

"Bah—no men, no sweethearts interest me! Men have held women down to long. In the air I'm free like a bird. My life belongs to my airplane—and I might add," laughing, "that it costs me more than a family would."

Capt. Fred Heinenmann is confined to his home by illness.

BRINGS "EVIDENCE" TO PROVE MURDER

Mounted Police Sergeant, Corpse and Slayer, on Long Trail to Justice.

Edmonton, Can.—It is impossible to prove murder without a dead man in the case.

Hubert Thorne, sergeant of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, knows that.

So, when he walked into court at Ft. Smith recently with an Indian charged with murder, he also brought in the body of the victim!

Thorne was at Ft. Simpson in the far north when he heard of a murder at Ft. Providence. He hurried to the scene by dog sled. The murderer had fled across wide wastes of wind-blown snow. Thorne tracked him and arrested him.

That did not satisfy him. He required the "corpus delicti" for evidence. The victim had been buried three weeks. Deep snow had drifted over the grave.

Thorne exhumed the body, strapped it to his sled and started for the nearest justice's court.

That was at Ft. Smith, 400 miles away!

Never did the ghostly wastes that lie white and silent beneath the northern lights witness stranger cavalcade. The slayer, mushing ahead on his snowshoes, broke trail for the dead. Close on his heels, pitching over the hummocks, rode the corpse like a pursuing, vengeful spirit. Thorne brought up the rear. The tinkle of the dog bells was as a dirge.

The party followed the Mackenzie River to Great Slave Lake.

A blizzard struck them when halfway across the lake. Stormbound for four days, captor and slayer huddled beside the coffin. After two weeks, weak and exhausted, they staggered into Ft. Smith.

From the witness stand of his own coffin the dead man gave silent testimony against the accused.

The Indian was bound over and is now in jail at Edmonton awaiting trial.

District Attorney F. V. Heinenmann was a Manitowoc and Sheboygan visitor Wednesday.

STATE C. OF C. TO BE LEADING TOPIC

Commercial Secretaries Will Hold Annual Convention at Oshkosh Soon.

Further consideration of a state chamber of commerce for Wisconsin will be one of the big issues of the convention of Commercial Secretaries June 14 in Oshkosh, according to the program received by Secretary Hugh G. Corbett of the local chamber.

Harvey T. Hill, secretary of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce is to be one of the leading speakers and will present the subject of the state chamber fully. Various Badger secretaries are interested in what other states are doing with such an organization.

A banquet is to be held in the evening at the municipal clubhouse on the shore of Lake Winnebago. Phil A. Grau, business manager of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce is to be the after-dinner speaker.

Others scheduled to speak are G. S. Canright, Madison, member of securities division of the railroad commission; Reid Murray, farm agent, Oshkosh; C. B. Dockery, Green Bay, traffic secretary, Association of Commerce; L. O. Holman, Janesville, and William George Bruce, Milwaukee.

Secretaries of Wisconsin also are planning for a large delegation to the national school for commercial organization secretaries which is to be held in Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., July 15 to 20. Many subjects will be taken up in the classes including commercial and civic problems. The training will bring the delegates up to date on some of the newer activities which have become chamber of commerce functions. Morning hours will be devoted to lectures and afternoons to conferences.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE MEET IN MEXICO CITY

Invitation has been received by the chamber of commerce to send delegates to the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce in Mexico City, Mexico June 20 to 26. An American delegation is to be made up at El Paso, Texas and will tour a portion of Mexico before the convention. The Mexican government is making elaborate plans to entertain the visitors and will have representatives from its 34 commercial organizations taking part. Milwaukee is the only Wisconsin city so far reporting delegates.

Miss Anna Manning and Miss Marie Walsh of Milwaukee arrived here Thursday to visit for ten days with Miss Marietta McCarthy, 1132 Fifth-st.

BUILD CITY WITH EYE TO THE FUTURE

Building Appleton for the future with a system and a vision is what Prof. Leonard Smith, University of Wisconsin, will urge in his address before the common council and representatives of various organizations at the dinner and conference at 6:30 Friday evening in Elk hall. An attendance of more than a hundred interested persons is expected.

It is the hope of the chamber of commerce to gain an idea of the public feeling toward city planning at the meeting. An effort also will be made to ascertain how fully the public is informed regarding the plan and the benefits that accrue from having rules for guidance in future expansion activities.

Prof. Smith is city planning instructor at the university. His address will not deal with generalities in city planning, because he has studied the project as adapted to Wisconsin cities and can explain how the idea can be applied in this state successfully.

An open discussion is to follow the address.

FINDS HIS GOLD WATCH LOST TEN YEARS AGO

Lost articles sometimes return just as Ben Van Winkle did after sleeping a hundred years. John Hafnerbecker, town of Grand Chute, lost a gold watch 10 years ago. He was never sure where it disappeared, but it was found several days ago by Melvin Hafnerbecker, who was working in a field. The young man noticed something shiny and upon picking it up found it to be the long lost watch. The land had been plowed, cultivated and used for pasture over and over again, but the case was still in fairly good condition except that the crystal was broken. The "works" were unfit for further service.

Budget Director Given Large Powers By New Law

Appointment Will Be Made by President to Whom Director
Is Responsible.

BY WILLIAM H. TAFT
Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

The country is to be congratulated greatly upon the adoption of an agreement in conference upon the new budget bill which secures its adoption.

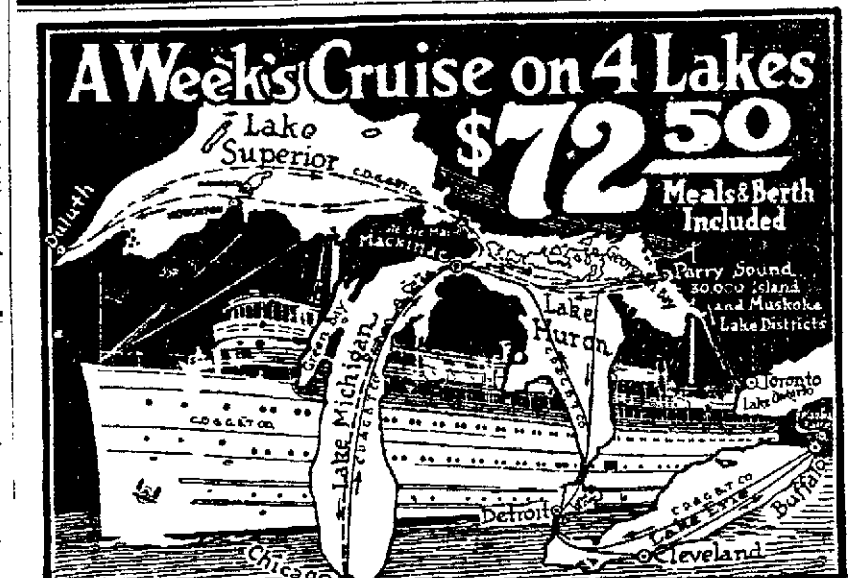

The difference between the senate and the house bill has been composed in such a way that the bill remains the very important feature already commented on in these columns, namely, the direct control by the president of the experts to be charged with the preparation of the budget from the executive branch.

While the bureau of the budget is placed in the department of the treasury, it is really a bureau directly under the president for the president appoints the director and the bureau is to prepare the budget for the president under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, and the director is to perform the administrative duties personal to the bureau under presidential rules and regulations. Indeed, the appointment is to be made without the necessity of confirmation by the senate. The president also appoints the controller general or auditor, to whom the bill gives a long and independent tenure of office. Thus the president is given an instrumentality not only for the preparation of the budget, but for a continuous comparison of efficiency and economy in every department.

The subordination of the bureau to the secretary of the treasury, in the sense that it is a part of his department, doubtless will obviate in large degree the objection that the director of the bureau would become a super cabinet officer and is therefore quite unobjectionable. It is well that all bureau should be within department organization except possibly the interstate commerce commission, in so far as it exercises a quasi-judicial function in fixing rates. So far as it is an administrative body, it ought to be in the department of commerce; but that is another story.

Suffice it to say that one of the most important steps in reorganization of the government for an effective business administration is taken in this machinery for a budget. As president Harding has pointed out already, it will not of itself substantially reduce the expenditures of the government unless economy is exercised by congress in cutting off wasteful objects provided by law, but it will make for the careful trimming of needed expenditures within the limits of effectiveness, and it will give to con-

CLOVER CROP WILL BE LIGHT THIS YEAR

Crop conditions in Outagamie-co. as a whole are better than in most previous years, but the killing cold of the spring has resulted in a shortage of clover. Men who travel through the country say the shortage in this crop is extremely noticeable.

A snow coating usually protects the hay and grain crops until the frost disappears, but this year the winter was open and the cold weather continued far into the spring.

Abundance of rain and the warm weather of the last week or two have been excellent for small grains and corn. Grain has shown a rapid growth and is well ahead of the average season. Most of the corn planting is done and some of it already is above the ground. Alfalfa stood the winter well.

gress, by the exposition of a scientific budget, a full opportunity to know what each object which is proposed is likely to cost, with a sense of proportion enabling it to weigh properly the advantage or disadvantage of attempting any particular legislative purpose. The object of a budget is to act knowledge of income and outgo upon which the legislative body, which is ultimately responsible, can act.

COMMISSION ON SALE

Edward P. Alesch has brought action against T. K. Haave and wife, Marie Haave, to recover a fee of $1,650 for the sale of a farm in the town of Lennon, Shawano-co., to Henry Thiel, formerly manager of the Outagamie Equity exchange.

The farm was placed in Mr. Alesch's hands to sell and he had several prospective purchasers, but was finally disposed of by the owners without Mr. Alesch's knowledge for a consideration of $33,000. The realtor, under his contract with the owners, was to have a fee of 5 per cent of the sale price.

PRIEBE SETTING PACE FOR BRANDT SLUGGING CREW

Eight Appleton Players Have Perfect Fielding Records in Four Games.

"Wonder what happened to Priebe's batting eye during the winter?" That was the question fans were shooting at each other following the first few baseball games this season, which Harvey Priebe, Brandt's left fielder, failed to connect for a single safe drive. These same fans now are convinced that nothing was the matter with Harvey—he just couldn't get going. Batting averages compiled this week give Priebe an average of .375 and he is leading the Brandt clan with six hits in sixteen times at bat. Five of the hits were collected in the last two games and were responsible for several Appleton runs.

Bayer, second baseman, is running Priebe a close race with 6 hits in 19 times up for an average of .350. All the Brandts except Schultz Woods and Bayer are hitting at least .300. The team average is .231.

Eight Brandts have perfect fielding averages while nine errors are charged against five present and former players. The team's fielding average is .902.

Hank Schultz probably the best pitcher in the league, has fanned 36 of the 146 batters who faced him this season. He has passed only three or four men and no wild pitches have been charged against him.

Following are the batting averages

Player	Games	AB	H	Ave.
Priebe	4	16	6	.375

Gems Of Alabama's Diamond Mine

Riggs Stephenson batting, Joey Sewell (center) and Luke Sewell, his brother.

Cleveland—The University of Alabama is proving to be the best diamond mine in the country. Three times within a year it has been called upon to give the World's Champion Indians players.

Three times it has come across with the goods. Joey Sewell came up to fill the hole at short last fall following Ray Chapman's untimely death. He made good with bells on.

Riggs Stephenson answered the S. O. S. call this spring when Second Baseman Bill Wambly was injured. He has filled Bill's shoes at second and in hitting he is up among the leaders of the American League and still swatting. Manager Tris Speaker went back to the Alabama diamond mine a third time.

He annexed Luke Sewell, Joey's kid brother. Luke is a catcher. With Steve O'Neill out of the game with a broken finger and Leslie Nunamaker nursing a sore hand the kid catcher from Alabama will get in to harness right off the reel. It is up to Luke and Chet Thomas to carry the Indians over their hard luck period.

It would take a check for $50,000, possibly $75,000, to buy Joey and Steve from the Indians now. In another year or two Luke may be just as valuable. And none of the trio cost Owner Jim Dunn a cent.

Speaker has taken his place along beside Connie Mack in picking off young players who attain stardom without touching the well-known bank roll.

The University of Alabama now has a mighty strong interest in baseball.

FORGET BASEBALL TO CHATTER FIGHT

Descamps and Kearns All
Worked Up Over Selection of Referee.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Just as many baseball bugs are hanging around the big scoreboard in Times Square every afternoon but they don't talk baseball.

Fight is the large talk over the metropolis.

The chances of Georges Carpentier and the condition of Jack Dempsey has crowded all other sports off the table. There's nothing but fight to read about or write about.

Although the fans do not think it a vital question, M. Descamps and Mr. Kearns seem to be worked up considerably over the referee question. They conferred at length Wednesday with Tex Rickard about the third man in the ring and they were to talk it over again Thursday.

Up to Managers
Rickard says it's up to them to decide who they want and then he'll see if the New Jersey commission will stand for their choice. Although he won't come out in so many words and say it, Kearns wasn't too pleased with the report that Harry Ertle had been selected by the commission.

No doubt the commission will insist upon the right to name the referee but it is hardly likely they will oppose both managers.

Descamps says he is going over and inspect the Jersey City stadium when it is completed but that Carpentier will get his first glimpse of the structure an hour before he goes into the ring with Dempsey.

The champion has looked over the battle ground before the construction work was started. It is hardly probable though that he will leave his camp to take a look at the stands before the fight.

CARP LOOKS LIKE JACK DEMPSEY!

Jack McAuliffe Sees Striking Resemblance to Old
"Nonpareil."

BY JACK McAULIFFE
By United Press Leased Wire
Manhasset, N. Y.—Georges Carpentier looked very bad to me when he arrived from France several weeks ago. I said at the time that he was greatly in need of a rest, and evidently he got it, for he looks 100 per cent better now.

One thing that has struck me about the challenger is his rather striking resemblance to the original Jack Dempsey, the old "Nonpareil." This is especially marked around his eyes and nose.

The Frenchman is not so small. He shows his strength when he uses his right hand, which seems to be his favorite and most dangerous weapon. His left is good but I believe that he stakes everything on that right hand punch.

He uses it a lot like a bow and arrow. It's a snappy blow, driven entirely by the arm and back muscles. He gets it over with a lightning like speed that makes it very dangerous.

His overhand blow is also beautiful but he isn't using it very much—at least in public. I think it would be just as well if he discarded it against Dempsey.

The Frenchman is being handled very well. He is awfully close to being right at top condition now and he is doing the wise thing in working just enough to keep his muscles limbered up.

Watching The Scoreboard

Wednesday's hero—Dave Bancroft. He got a single, double, triple and a home run in four trips to the plate. The Giants beat the Phils two games, 9 to 2 and 8 to 3.

Kelly got his ninth.

Jimmy Johnston's single in the ninth inning drove in the run that gave the Robins a 5 to 4 win over the Braves.

Two singles, a hit batsman and an error gave the Cubs two runs in the ninth inning but the Pirates won, four to two.

Rixey was knocked out of the box by the Cards and the Reds lost 10 to 4. Henkle Groh signed a contract.

Mays went to pieces in the ninth inning Washington scored five runs. The Yanks lost 8 to 7.

The Red Sox and Athletics split one. The Sox won 6 to 3 and lost 3 to 2.

CARP AND DEMP ARE IMMUNE TO CROWD'S RAZZING

Pugs Don't Like Ringside
Panning But It Won't Make 'Em
Lose Their Heads.

BY JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion

Did you ever wonder when you sat in the crowd at a fight and yelled "Murder him!" "He's wobbly!" "Finish him!" just what effect you were having on the men in the ring?

It does have an effect. I can say that from my own experience.

A fighter, even though he is up against a man who has him fighting hammer and tongs, hears almost every word that is spoken by those in the crowd.

And many a fight has been won by a suggestion voiced by some friend of the boxer's who sat at the ringside. Often these friends see the weakness of an opponent even before a boxer has found it out, and by slipping the advice to the man in the ring, they put him hep a round or two earlier and make victory surer and oftentimes a knockout possible.

Applause has the same effect on a fighter as an actor. Give an actor a good hand after a good show and he'll give you half a dozen encores. If a boxer gets a good hand when he slips over a hard one, he'll try to repeat. For who doesn't like admiration?

But razzing by fans doesn't have much effect on the ordinary fighter. He doesn't like it, of course, but it doesn't get on his nerves.

There has been a lot of fanning among fight bugs about whether the fact that Carpentier will be fighting in a strange land and the question has been asked whether the fact that appearing before an American audience—a fight crowd that says what it thinks in no uncertain words—wouldn't get on the nerves of the Frenchman. No, it won't.

Georges has been fighting since 1907. A man who can hammer his way regularly in a ring through all the fighting classes certainly is immune by this time to any remarks that may be made during a bout by those outside the ropes. Dempsey, too, is the type of fighter who would keep on fighting if fire was discovered under the ring.

So don't look for either of the boys who battle July 2 to go "up in the air" or even "off the ground" because of any choice remarks from the crowd during the big scrap.

Chicks by Mail
Baby chicks continue to arrive by parcel post each day, addressed to farmers or poultry raisers. Every morning the incessant chirp of the caged fledglings may be heard until the carriers have left with their deliveries. Some of the shipments come from long distances but usually arrive with few or no deaths among the chicks.

The fact that the $50 pasteboards for the Demp-Carp show sold before the $5 ones shows which way the mind of the American public runs.

With athletes turning in the best grades in schools and colleges it is no wonder that some institutions favor compulsory athletics.

Francis Oudinet says that watching topnotchers will help the American golf stars. This was not meant to be a sarcastic remark.

Life guards have gone on duty at Atlantic City. With so many fight fans walking the board walk it was probably feared they would push each other into the ocean.

Georges Carpentier is keeping an eye on the knockout record of one Thomas Gibbons. After Dempsey is disposed of he'll tackle Thomas, you know.

The Tanks and Pirates have better luck as tourists than as hometown folk.

Dempsey is watching Carpentier work—but it's on the silver screen.

Answer to the query of whether the 1921 baseball is livelier or not is found in the changed pitching rules not the balls.

About all the Giants need to keep Pittsburg from winning the National League pennant is pitching. That usually holds true in baseball.

Says His Prescription
Has Powerful Influence
Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He truly gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store, Union Pharmacy have been appointed agents for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OF FOURTH WARD IN PRETTY PROGRAM

Youngsters Present Outdoor
May Festival in Delightful Manner.

A novel and delightful entertainment was given Wednesday afternoon when pupils of the Fourth district school presented a charming spring festival before a large crowd of friends on the school lawn. Nature had provided a beautiful setting for the event with a background of green, trimmed with apple blossoms. Miss Dorothy Engler, who was elected queen of the festival by the members of the eighth grade was preceded to the throne by little Harold Dorrans as "herald," seated in a royal chariot. Dona Littlefield and Geraldine Leinwender acted as ladies in waiting and Harry Rhodes and Robert Jacobs, two tiny tots, were the train bearers. The queen was presented with a crown of flowers and a dainty little scepter.

Kindergarten children then put on a little pantomime and dance dramatizing a contest between winter and spring. The winter spirits held a revel on the sword until the gentle spring fairies drove them away. The contest was repeated until finally the winter spirits were banished and spring triumphed.

A group of interpretive dances was presented. "A Dance of Joy," "The Bird," "The Butterfly and the Brook."

One of the most attractive features of the program was a midwest parade in which tiny boys and girls dressed to represent Uncle Sam and other characters, rode in appropriate miniature conveyances. The sailor in a sail boat and the farmer boy on a load of hay.

Children from the first grade of the Richmond school presented a garden scene. Flowers of all varieties sprang into view and were followed by bees and butterflies who searched for honey. A dainty little fairy appeared and changed them all back to children. The number concluded with a Rock a Bye Lady "Poppies" drill. A flower basket drill was given by children from the second grade. A "Virginia reel" danced by the fairy maids and the overall boys was gracefully done.

An apple blossom dance and a butterfly dance was given by girls of the third grade in artistic costumes. Fourth grade girls gave a little Japanese drill with fans and parasols. Girls of the same height in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades presented a group of dances. "Pop Goes the Weasel," "Step, Step, Bow" and the "Merry Go Round." The last was the winding of the May pole and was done in a remarkably delightful way with clever little figures.

A Garland drill was danced by the fifth grade after which Evelyn Ashman, as the fairy, danced a solo dance.

Miss Adelaide Tofferson as chairman of the program arranged all of the events and planned the numbers.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them." Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Marshroot is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day, with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be getting upon you. Don't wait until tomorrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with unfading certainty.

Never mind the failures of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to Kidney Disease, don't lose a single day for Schlitz Bros. Co. and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit.

Mail Carrier Finds Birds' Nests In Boxes

Uncle Sam is having competition with the birds in the use of mail boxes along the rural routes, according to John Freude, rural mail carrier on route No. 2. Mr. Freude discovered a pair of bluebirds comfortably nestled in the mail box in front of Herman Klinko's house, and a family of wrens in the box at Cedar Grove school, Greenville.

Mr. Freude has watched the birds each day and noticed four blue eggs in the Klinko nest. The parent birds were timid at first, appeared angry at the intrusion when mail was inserted, and usually flew away. Now Mr. Freude slides the letters beneath the cover carefully without lifting it, and the mother sits peacefully on her nest.

The wrens loitered around the schoolhouse for several weeks and seemed to realize that school was out this week, because they immediately built a nest in the mail box, where they will remain undisturbed all summer.

The sixth volume of the high school annual "The Clarion" will be given to the students after the class day exercises Thursday. The book contains about 100 pages and takes in every department of the high school. A few pages are left blank for autographs of schoolmates. Ralph Mullenix is the editor of the magazine. Frank Jones is the business manager and Royal La Rose is assistant business manager. Miss Hester Harper is faculty advisor.

The remainder of the staff consists of David Bender, Geneva Blumacher, Ruth Brigham, Mildred Butler, Cathryn Corbett, Marjorie Davis, Reed Havens, Helen Henbest, Donald Kurz, Joan Mills, John O'Leary, Rosetta Segal, Wilma Thiede and Florence Torrey.

OFFER LOVING CUP TO LAWRENCE FRESHMEN

A silver loving cup has been offered by K. F. Keller and Sons to the chairman of the freshman committee of Lawrence college doing the best work for the year. The reports of the various committees will be made Monday morning at chapel after which Dr. Samuel Plantz will award the cup.

The committees have been well organized under strong leaders and have been doing splendid work along the lines of scholarship and standard. One feature of one committee is the "courtesy" campaign waged for one week in which ten judges worked secretly to discover the most courteous girls in the class. The results were very gratifying.

THANK POLICE FOR EFFICIENT WORK

Chief Instructed to Resume
Training School for Police Officers.

Business of a routine nature was transacted at a meeting of the police and fire commission at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon at the city hall. Chief George T. Prim was instructed to resume the police officers' training school which he formerly conducted once a month. A regular meeting date will be set, at which matters of interest to the department will be taken up.

Two communications received by the chief were read to the board. One was from Queen Jacobs, representing Tau Tau Kappa sorority, which had charge of the May festival. The letter expressed the thanks of the organization to the police department for its efficient service in handling the traffic and crowds while the festival was in progress.

A second was from the Appleton Cemetery association and signed by Fred Peterson, president, and Joseph Kottend, Jr., secretary. The letter thanked the department for its service in handling the Memorial day crowds. It said the throng was one of the largest ever entering the cemetery, yet not a single accident was recorded. The commission asked Chief Prim to have copies of these and other letters of a similar nature received in the past prepared for the files of the secretary.

Nothing further was done concerning appointment of a policeman. Only one formal application has been received, but two others have made verbal inquiry concerning the work.

SPEED COP AFTER CARELESS DRIVERS

Automobile driving within Appleton city limits will be obliged to keep one eye on the speedometer now unless they want to take the initiation into the speeder shrine conducted by Judge A. M. Spencer. Police Chief George T. Prim has ordered the department's motorcycle put into use and Patrolman Edward Ratzman has been busy since Sunday scouring the streets for violators of the speed laws.

The first driver to be arrested is Burard Immel, rural route No. 4, Hortonville. It is alleged that his car had only one license plate. Further inquiry revealed that Immel owns three automobiles and has only two sets of license plates. He is to appear in court Thursday afternoon.

A number of drivers were found to be exceeding the speed limit, but were warned by the officer for their first offense and were promised arrest if they were caught a second time.

SEND THREE DELEGATES TO U. C. T. CONVENTION

George Bohan, George Ewen and Max Schwab left Wednesday evening for Chippewa Falls to attend the annual state convention of the United Commercial Travelers which convenes Thursday, Friday and Saturday. M. E. Elias, member of the grand council, will also attend. Elaborate preparations are being made for the event and a large delegation from all over the state will attend. Automobile trips through the city and a sight seeing tour through the industrial plants are to be features of the convention.

Help the Kidneys Fight That Cold

Colds and grip cause thousands of cases of kidney trouble. In any germ disease the system becomes filled with poisons which the kidneys must filter off. All too often this extra burden weakens the kidneys. Then you have constant backache, headaches and dizziness; you lack ambition, feel dull, nervous and depressed. Don't ignore these warnings! Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Home folks recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

An Appleton Case
Mrs. Theo. H. Lembecke, 827 Meade St., says: "I was annoyed with kidney weakness and suffered with dull nagging backaches and pains across my back. I felt tired and languid mornings and had no strength or energy. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They relieved me of the kidney annoyances and removed the backaches and pains."
